

Visiting your GP during the coronavirus pandemic

Please don't ignore any symptoms that might need medical attention. The NHS is here for you.

Where possible, we are continuing to hold appointments by phone, video or online. If we do need to see you in person, you will be asked to come into the practice for an appointment.

We have made some changes to make this as safe as possible for everyone:

- socially-distanced waiting areas
- hand sanitiser
- do not come into the practice if you are self-isolating and/or have any coronavirus symptoms
- staff must wear appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE)
- patients must wear a face mask.

If you have any concerns or questions, please phone ahead to discuss.
